BARBARA POTTER

Producer

Barbara Potter is founder and partner of Resolution Productions, Inc., serving as Producer or Field Producer for all of the company's productions, from national television commercials to broadcast series and specials.

As Producer for We Hold These Truths: The Global Quest for Liberty, she completed four hours of public television programming with Judge Douglas Ginsburg, U.S. Court of Appeals, D.C. Circuit. In 2020, she served as producer of Free To Choose Media's A More or Less Perfect Union, a three-part series about the Constitution, which was hosted by Judge Ginsburg and aired twice on PBS nationwide.

Potter has produced a number of Free To Choose Media documentaries for public television, including The Real Adam Smith, A Personal Exploration by Johan Norberg, Power to the People with Johan Norberg, and both Unlikely Heroes of the Arab Spring and Globalization at the Crossroads, with Peruvian Economist Hernando De Soto. She produced, with WTTW Chicago, a three-part panel discussion series called Testing Milton Friedman.

In addition, Potter field produced Battleship for the Discovery Network, Floating Palaces, California and the Dream Seekers, and The Story of Money for the Arts and Entertainment Network. Other work includes the series Pets: Part of the Family and The Joy of Gardening. For many years she made television commercials, corporate and marketing programs, and educational videos with her partner, Jim Taylor. Her work has taken her around the world.

Potter, who has over 30 years in the video production industry, also provides still photography for all Resolution Productions projects.
